legacy of war™

You may play Legacy of War™ with the enclosed 3-D glasses. Just set the 3-D mode to "ON" in the Options Menu. Here are some helpful tips to get the best 3-D effects:

Before putting on your 3-D glasses (and turning on the 3-D mode) adjust the brightness setting on your TV until you see two pictures (red and blue) - (Consult your TV owner's manual for details.)

Set the TV's contrast to about 25-50% higher than normal. (Consult your TV's owner manual for details.)

While wearing the 3-D glasses, adjust the TV's image so you get one image instead of two (red and blue). Play with very little background light in the room so no glare appears on the TV.

The Story Behind The Legacy.....

1957. A different time than ours. A large object falls from the sky and lands near a remote basin area in the Amazon amidst the ruins of a long forgotten Mayan temple. Scientists dismiss the incident as a cosmic occurrence.

Three decades pass...

Rumors run rampant and reach the Pentagon's front office. Frightened villagers in the Amazon area talk of a ruler with an army of non-human soldiers. Two members of the E.S.F organization (The Elite Special Forces formed during the Cold War) are dispatched on a sweep and clear mission. Their code names are "Scorpion" & "Mad Dog". Working together they deal with the threat known as "Red Falcon" and shut down its attempt at the domination of Earth by alien forces.

1990. Red Falcon, believed slain, resurfaced. Learning from his defeat three years prior, he recruits other alien forces to his cause. However, even more sinister is the use of biological contaminants to mutate U.S. forces into his agents of destruction. Scorpion and Mad Dog clean off their ordinance and reunite once again to take down Red Falcon along with his new deadly ally, Jagger Froid. Names are taken and serious alien butt is kicked. The alien threat disappears until . . .

Flash forward to the near future. Black Viper is sent to accomplish what Red Falcon could not do, the complete subjugation of Earth. An aging Scorpion is sent in to erase Black Viper. After a brutal confrontation, Viper is finally defeated.

Years later:

The elite Contra Force, an independent law enforcement alumnus group made up of E.S.F. as well as direct descendants of the E.S.F. top commando agents. They are sent in to deal with the Earth based terrorist organization known only as D.N.M.E. who are trying to take control of Neo-City.

2636: The future is once again threatened by Red Falcon. Fortunately the direct descendants of Scorpion and Mad Dog are on hand to deal with the grave situation. The Alien Wars ensue and after a hard pressed battle the Earth is nearly destroyed. Five years later, Earthkind is recovering from the Alien Wars. The government establishes the Unified Military Special Mobile Task Force a.k.a. HARD CORPS, to help stem the rising threat of crime that is running rampant in the cities. Order is restored. Or is it?

THE PRESENT

Colonel Bassad is a dictator of a small country. Some call him cruel, others call him ruthless, but most who dare question his "authority" wind up dead. A true megalomaniac at heart. It has only been recently revealed that an alien embryo was smuggled out of a top secret base during the Alien Wars by an unknown security guard. The embryo was purchased by Col. Bassad. Bassad used it to breed a horde of fierce, mutated aliens. They consider him their god and their loyalty borderlines on doggish slavery. The Colonel plans to conquer the Earth and remake it in his image. There are rumors circulating that Bassad is working in unison with a secret alien ally. Before the conflict can escalate to such a disastrous level, The Elite Special Forces are pressed into service once again. They must try to put an end to this LEGACY OF WAR™.

CHARACTER PROFILES

Ray:

Member of the Unified Military Special Taskforce, a.k.a. The HARD CORPS, following the Alien Wars. Ray doesn't like to speak of the past, but word is out that he has taken part in more combat than the government will actually confirm to participating in. In addition to being a master of hand-to-hand combat in over seven styles, he's a weapon's expert and an ace pilot. Ray enjoys sushi, long walks on the beach and owns a fabulous collection of show tunes. Ray is known for muttering choice comments under his breath especially in the presence of his commanders.

Tasha:

Swift, silent, deadly. Before you make the obvious joke, note that Tasha once destroyed a HF-77 Assassin Cybot with one hit for cracking the same joke. She doesn't have a sense of humor for in her job it would only get in the way. Her style is always the consummate professional, all business, all the time. A former intergalactic mercenary, she joined the newly reformed E.S.F because of the respect she gained from Ray on the previous assault on Kyshak II. She can kill in many ways and ironically enough enjoys heavy firepower because she says, "I enjoy the fireworks."

C-D 288:

A direct result of an offshoot of the Assassin cybot series, made by the now defunct Wade Industries before the Alien Wars. After the war, circumstances led to the merger of Wade Industries with the software giant ChuckSoft, and formed Chuck/Wade Arms Co. Their first venture was the C-D (Cyborg Destroyer) series. This particular unit from the 288 mark series was reprogrammed by a HARD CORPS tech member to include optimal functioning levels in both underwater and anti-gravity environments. Previous destroyer class models had limitations in these conditions but were totally efficient and ruthless in all other situations. Some of the suits at Chuck/Wade Arms Co. are against these modifications and demand that the units be returned, but skeptics say that they just want the ability to market the Cybots themselves. There is a rumor floating about the HARD CORPS that C-D 288 is becoming self-aware but its only available comment is "Crush, Kill, Destroy the enemies of HARD CORPS!"

Bubba

We know little about the rouge alien known as "Bubba". There can be no denying his/her? effectiveness. There is no knowledge of its past to the members of HARD CORPS. This alien has the ability to communicate and comprehend in our languages. How this is possible is unknown. "Bubba" has fought on behalf of the Terrans since the beginning of the Alien Wars. (The nickname stems from one of the HARD CORP'S base computer geeks when he was scanning known planetary sights for information about this enigmatic alien). Amongst the members of HARD CORPS outside of the four members of the main strike team, there is some open distrust of "Bubba". Some fear he might be a plant, a member of the Alien mercenaries rumored to be under the new enemy's employment.
